Purely Business!

The columns of a newspaper represent a cash value. No publisher can afford to give advertising "notices" from any source. A good business man takes over his counter from gifts of dry goods or stock. A newspaper is a business concern. Its columns are its stock in trade and advertisements should be paid for, no matter in what part of the paper they appear.

NOTICE

—TO OUR—

Country Friends.

It is acknowledged by all that inspected and bought the $6 75 Pure Wool Black and Blue Cheviot Suits that we put on sale Friday noon is THE GREATEST BARGAIN WE EVER OFFERED OUR PATRONS.

We find that the time allotted for the sale of them is too short to give our friends through the country the opportunity to secure this incomparable bargain. In fact, we are in receipt of letters and verbal messages requesting a postponement of the closing of this sale. In compliance with these requests we will continue the sale of these goods until Wednesday night, provided they will last until then.

We must again impress upon you that we will send none on approval nor will we charge a single Suit. When the goods are taken out the money must come in. Please spare us the embarrassment of refusing to send Suits on approval or charge them.

CRASH SKIRTS at 39c.

We are showing a complete line of Linen Crash, Duck and Pique Ready-to-Wear Skirts that compare favorably with the stock of metropolitan stores. We bought in large quantities at a price so as to dispose of them at quick-selling figures. The 39c Skirt is the one you're paying 50c for elsewhere. There are more Crash Skirts at 39c, 45c, 51c and 59c, all having even gored and lap. Robustness of all is a tailor-made waist with Pique Skirt at 49c, having the proper hang and a perfect fit. You'll miss some sensible skirt suggestions if you don't see our line.

Prettiness in Parasols!

Combined with great values and small prices is well illustrated here. We closed out a manufacturer's lot of Child's Parasols, made to sell at 25c, our price 19c. Some great bargains at 49c, 75c, 99c, and 119c, all with silk covers and superb handles. PLUMVILLE PICKINGS.

What Our Good Friends Have Been Doing Since Our Last Report.

Quite a number from this place attended the Decoration at the Mayville Cemetery Monday evening. Mr. A. L. Redman returned home Sunday evening after a pleasant visit to his sister, Mrs. Louisa Ambrose of near Tollesboro.

Mrs. A. L. Redman and daughter Miss Rena Mae Corryell and niece and guest Miss Daisy Helm went on the L. and N. excursion to Lexington Sunday, and were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Frank.

SPRINGDALE SPLITTERS.

A Writer Who Hears to the Line, Regardless Where the Chips Fall.

Elder W. W. Hall was a pleasant visitor here recently.

Mr. Rula Luman and daughter Miss Stella were pleasant guests at Maple Wood Sunday.

Mr. A. J. Connelly, Assistant Agent of the C. and O., is visiting his parents at Foster. R. H. Hasted of Cincinnati takes his place for the time.

Messrs. John Otto, Julius Dezman and Robert Henderson went to East Fork on their weekly Monday. Some mischief was done punctured their tires with pins. The ride home was largely "walk."

A delightful all-day Memorial service was held at East Fork, Lewis county. The rain the night previous made the day an ideal one. The population of Mason county seemed to have assembled at this historic place. Mason and Fleming were also well represented. Croxton Post did itself proud in the excellent rendering of an interesting program. Judge Hills conducted the services of the day with his usual patriotic enthusiasm. Excellent speeches were delivered by Messrs. J. H. Littleton and Ellsworth Reganstone of Lewis and C. G. Dugan of Mason county. Appropriate recitations were given by a number of youngsters. The beautiful poem by Melan, entitled "The Matchless Race of the Oregon," was recited by Mr. C. P. Dugan of Mason county. The house was handsomely decorated with flags, the beautiful Cuban flag occupying a modest place near our own beloved Stars and Stripes. Mrs. Hendrickson at the organ. Mr. Grigley with concert and Mr. Bowman with mandolin, swayed by excellent vocalists, rendered the familiar airs that never grow old, with a pathos that brought tears to the eyes of the gray haired veterans. A duet entitled "Tread Softly, a Soldier is Sleeping Here," by Mrs. Hendrickson and Mrs. Means, whose beautiful voices are well known, was charming to the extreme. Not only the soldiers' but every grave in the cemetery was literally covered over with flowers.

Some People Think that because we sell Stetway Pianos, we sell nothing else, and they must necessarily pay a high price if they buy of us.

They are Mistaken for we have other high grade pianos such as Hazeltone, Smith & Barnes, Gable, Kurtzman, etc., superior in touch, tone and finish at prices most moderate. We offer intending purchasers greater variety and better value, dollar for dollar than any house in the West.

MODERN NAVAL BATTLE.

What It Costs Uncle Sam to Fight One-- $200,000 For One Volley.

Every time a thirteen inch projectile is belched forth from the guns of the Indiana or Massachusetts, says The Philadelphia Inquirer, the American taxpayer goes down into his pocket for his share of the $80 that it costs to hurl the half ton of pointed metal at the Spanish.

The patriotic American taxpayer does not complain. He knows that for every shell expended there will be rendered a strict account and that although the shell costs more in proportion to its increase in caliber, its power to create havoc is also vastly augmented.

A single discharge from the Indiana's four thirteen-inch guns costs $3,800, or enough to support the average man and his family for over a year. Counting at the rate of ten rounds in an hour, forty shots from the four guns combined, the figures would rise to the neat sum of $32,000. For the eight-inch guns the cost would be about one-third that of firing the thirteen inch rifles. While guns of the smaller caliber, six, five and four-inch, would be fired with as little regard to cost as a man puffing a five-cent cigar. Of course, this is not saying that the ammunition is wasted or that there is any reckless firing. Every gun in the fleet is built for a certain speed of fire, the rough or smooth condition of the water retarding or accelerating that speed.

Once having cleared for action, it is the duty of the gun Captains to see that their pieces are kept up to the maximum of efficiency during the engagement. A naval battle is not play. The ship that lands the greater number of projectiles and lands them fairly is the winner. For this reason it is false economy to carry on a hesitating fire when every extra shot adds just so much more to the chances of victory.

WHAT BIG GUNS CAN DO.

The following facts concerning the thirteen-inch guns of the Navy, of which there are just twelve in use, speak for themselves.

The projectile for a thirteen-inch breech-loading turret rifle weighs 1,100 pounds, a little more than half a ton. It stands four feet high, and can pierce, at the muzzle, 34 inches of wrought iron or 27 inches of steel. While in the muzzle of the gun at the moment of discharge the projectile travels at the rate of 2,100 feet a second. Worked out under the mathematical calculations of the Ordnance Bureau at Washington, it has been ascertained that the energy sufficient to carry the projectile thirteen miles would move 33,927 tons one foot. No patriotic American citizen would begrudge the paltry sum of $900 for destructive operations against Spain equal to the moving of a row of brick houses. The weight of the thirteen inch rifle is 691 tons, and it is 49 feet long from the breech block to the tip of the muzzle.

The regulation service charge for guns of this caliber is 500 pounds of brown prismatic powder, divided into two sections. Each charge is loaded from the magazine into a sling with three tubes. The powder charges occupy the two lower tubes and the projectile is slung into the upper one. To load the gun the sling is raised from the pit of the turret until its three tubes have passed the breech of the gun in the order of projectile, first powder charge, second powder charge. The ramming is done by a hydraulic telescope rammer, operated from the wall of the turret. When the upper section of the sling is abreast of the breech of the gun the rammer catches the shell on the head and forces it in, the two powder charges following in succession.

WHAT A SINGLE DISCHARGE COSTS.

The cost of powder and projectiles in firing the guns of the Indiana's main battery is, approximately:

Gun.	Cost.
13 inch.....	$500
8 inch.....	$50
6 inch.....	100

There are on the Indiana four 13 inch guns, consuming at a single discharge powder and shell to the value of $2,000. The eight 8 inch guns, at $250 each, aggregate another $2,000. The remaining four 6 inch guns add $400 more to the above figures, and an extra $400 may be counted for the smaller caliber rapid-fire guns of the secondary battery. This, it is to be remembered, is a single discharge, and the total cost for all guns is $6,800.

Computing the average rate of fire for all guns combined to be, during an engagement, at the rate of five complete discharges of the entire main and secondary batteries in every hour, it would cost the Government $30,000 for the Indiana's ammunition during a battle of an hour's duration.

The North Atlantic squadron comprises, in addition to a number of armored and protected cruisers, five armored vessels carrying heavy guns, namely, the Iowa, Indiana, Terror, Puritan and Amphitrite. A discharge from the main batteries of this formidable fleet costs:

Iowa.....	$5,000
Indiana.....	3,000
Terror.....	2,000
Puritan.....	3,000
Amphitrite.....	3,000
Total.....	$18,000

TREMENDOUS ENERGY.

At one discharge the Iowa throws 6,000 pounds of metal; the Indiana fires 7,000, the Puritan follows with 3,000 from her four great 12 inch guns, and the Terror and Amphitrite come in last with 3,000 pounds each. One hour's work of this kind, figuring on an average of five complete discharges of the fleet's entire available ordnance, would mean to the Government an expenditure of close to $1,000,000. Fifty tons of projectiles, varying in size from shells weighing one pound to 1,100 pounds, would be thrown, and the energy expended would represent sufficient physical force to erect a couple of city sky scrapers in a day. The reason for the enormous cost of modern steel projectiles, especially those of the larger caliber, is obvious. The process of making a 13-inch shell occupies two weeks and requires the handling of at least a dozen skilled workmen during the different stages of manufacture. After being cast in the metal and forged out under the hammer, the big guns, still in a rough-etched condition, is put in a lathe and accurately bored out and dressed down to the size designated by the Government's blue prints. If the shell is to be of the armor-piercing type, a specially hardened steel point is provided; if it is to be a high explosive shell, a larger core is drilled out, fitted at the upper end with a priming chamber and a delicately constructed plunger for detonating the gun cotton when the shell comes in forcible contact with its target. Two metal rings of copper alloy are shrunk around the circumference of the finished projectile into two grooves, providing a soft substance to the steel rifling of the gun to cut into in order that the projectile may be given a powerful whirling motion when it leaves the muzzle of the gun, and thereby bore through the air without deviation from its course.

Finished projectiles are sent to the Government arsenals, where they receive their charges of wet gun cotton and are scaled and shipped to points of distribution for the fleets and coast defenses.

Brown hexagonal powder costs about 50 cents a pound. For charges of 350 pounds, such as are used for the 13 inch guns of the Navy, the cost of firing a single shell amounts to nearly $300, the remaining $900 necessary to bring the price of a discharge up to $1,200 being consumed by the cost of the shell itself and the explosive charge it contains. A discharge from the Indiana's four large guns would burn up 2,300 pounds of powder, or enough to fill a coal wagon to the "bonest ton" height. The difference in cost between a ton of the best coal and a ton of the most powerful powder is $3,005.25. A ton of coal might be able to push a battleship weighing 10,000 tons a distance of a quarter of a mile. One ton of powder will push two tons of steel 13 miles, or it will move 135,000 tons one foot.

POWDER AND STEEL.

The following table will give some idea of the amount of powder and steel used at a single discharge by all the guns of the Navy:

Guns.	Powder charge, of shells single pounds.	Weight cost, single pounds, dis. per.
1 pounder.....	3	8
3 pounder.....	17	8
6 pounder.....	30	8
14 pounder.....	30	14
4 inch.....	140	30
5 inch.....	300	30
6 inch.....	500	30
8 inch.....	1150	200
10 inch.....	2400	500
12 inch.....	4250	850
13 inch.....	5500	1,100

The eleven armored vessels of the North Atlantic and Flying Squadrons combined could, at a single discharge from their main and secondary batteries, consume $96,000. In a fight of an hour's duration the combined squadrons would consume, and you cure its consequences. These are some of the consequences of constipation: Blisters, loss of appetite, pimples, sour stomach, depression, coated tongue, nightmar, palpitation, cold feet, debility, diarrhoea, weakness, backache, vomiting, jaundice, piles, pallor, stitch, irritability, nervousness, headache, torpid liver, heartburn, flat breast, sleeplessness, drowsiness, hot skin, cramps, throbbing head.

Cure Constipation

Ayer's Pills

Dr. J. C. Ayer's Pills are a specific for all diseases of the liver, stomach, and bowels.

"I suffered from constipation which assumed an obstinate form that I feared it would cause a stoppage of the bowels. After trying many remedies, I began to take Ayer's Pills. Two boxes effected a complete cure."

D. BURKE, Saco, Me.

"For eight years I was afflicted with constipation, which became so bad that the doctors could do no more for me. Then I began to take Ayer's Pills, and now the bowels recovered their natural action."

W. H. DELAUNAY, Dorset, Ont.

THE PILL THAT CURE

In actual money value, calculating roughly per ship:

Iowa.....	$ 25,000
Indiana.....	30,000
Terror.....	10,000
Puritan.....	15,000
Amphitrite.....	10,000
Montanoma.....	10,000
New York.....	10,000
Brooklyn.....	12,000
Massachusetts.....	7,000
Oregon.....	30,000
Total.....	$190,000

The amount of metal thrown would be, in pounds: Iowa, 29,000; Indiana, 35,000; Terror, 10,000; Puritan, 17,000; Amphitrite, 10,000; Montanoma, 10,000; New York, 9,000; Brooklyn, 15,000; Massachusetts, 35,000; Texas, 11,500; Oregon, 35,000.

One hundred and ninety thousand dollars is a big sum of money to be spent in an hour, but it would dwindle into insignificance with the thought that by its expenditure the Spanish fleet had been made the repository of 215,000 pounds of the best steel projectiles this country can turn out.
